Hailstone Utah was located north of Heber in Wasatch County. Hailstone got its name from a Mr. William P. Hailstone who married Davis, and settled on a ranch there. This was a branch of the 2nd Ward of Heber of the L.D.S. Church. Then later, under Bishop Henry Cluff Sr., it was known as Elkhorn Ward, and South of the Provo River Highway bridge at Jordanelle was known as Riverdale.

Robert Davis and Mary Bailey were parents to William Davis Sr. Brothers and sister to William Sr. or other children of Robert & Mary B. Davis were - a daughter who married a man by name of Hailstone & they settled north of Heber Utah which was later named Elkhorn then Hailstone Ranch; another son named James who lived in Hailstone for a time, then moved to Idaho; and another son named Thomas who lived in Midway Utah. } See FGS
